SCAVOLINI BRINGS US A KITCHEN WITH AN INDUSTRIAL TWIST

January 19, 2018

Diesel's Open Workshop is a multifarious project for varying tastes, from pure industrial to contemporary and "sophisticated".

For an absolutely evocative furnishing system with styling that goes far beyond passing tastes and cultures, Diesel and Scavolini bring us an innovative and dynamic view of the room at the heart of every home. The lightweight and the wealth of details make this kitchen 100% "Diesel" yet concurrently a classic that can suit a multitude of tastes. Especially for those who have a strong personality and wish to express it throughout their home.

Beauty never just arises by accident, especially when it is revealed in its simplicity. Indeed, in this particular composition, it can be found in the meeting point between the taste of “old world” objects with a new sense of interpretation: a new way of illustrating shapes and things.

The Mineral Green version of this composition is an example of how a colour code, applied to the same project, can reveal entirely different universes of style. Matt lacquered door and Ribbed Glass for minimal contemporary taste... just the thing for contemporary settings.

Total Black, Total Style

Dark tones and warm hues dominate the entire composition and clads the setting with a “strong elegance”.

An interesting element of this total black version is the Stock Rack System, an unprecedented open-fronted wall-mounted system designed by Diesel: here, it is equipped with tube, frame and shelves in Bronze finish, combined with glass shelves with Smoky Glass finish black mesh. The Bronze finish is even used for painted elements in the worktop and washing area in Gravel Corian®.

To complete this composition, there is a small display cabinet, embellished by an internal vertical Velo Led light, which creates a decidedly elegant visual effect.

A surprising kitchen furniture solution that becomes the star of the house! This Diesel Open Workshop composition proves to be striking design. The Soft Steel finish feet of the base units appear to suspend the volumes 26 cm above the floor. The aluminium frame doors with Ribbed Glass balance out the starring role played by the Soft Dun decorative melamine doors.
